NURSE PRACTITIONER FELLOWSHIP PROGRAMS

Program Description

UCSF offers two nurse practitioner (NP) fellowship programs that are led by exceptional nurse practitioners and feature practice-based learning, didactic education, mentorship, and scholarly projects. The programs are designed to expand the knowledge and skills new graduate (within 18 months of program completion) nurse practitioners acquire during their graduate or doctoral training. The programs run November 1 to October 31 annually.

UCSF Surgical and Critical Care Nurse Practitioner Fellowship

The UCSF Surgical and Critical Care Nurse Practitioner Fellowship is the first critical care NP fellowship in California, and the first surgical NP fellowship in the country to earn Accreditation with Distinction, the highest recognition awarded by the American Nurses Credentialing Center (ANCC). The program is in its eighth cohort and is supported by UCSF Health, the UCSF Office of Advanced Practice Providers, the UCSF School of Nursing, and the UCSF Departments of Surgery and Anesthesia. In August of 2021, it was again awarded Accreditation with Distinction. The program accepts Adult-Gerontology Acute Care Nurse Practitioners.

UCSF Cancer Services Nurse Practitioner Fellowship

The UCSF Cancer Services Nurse Practitioner Fellowship is midway through its first cohort and will be applying for ANCC accreditation in 2023. The fellowship has tremendous support from UCSF Health, UCSF Cancer Services, the UCSF Office of Advanced Practice Providers, and the UCSF School of Nursing. The program accepts Adult or Family advanced practice registered nurses with certification from ANCC (AG-ACNP, AG-PCNP, or FNP) or AANP (AG-PCNP).
